A promotional image for the Broadway production of Harry Potter and the Cursed Child. It features two characters, likely Harry Potter and Albus Severus Potter, standing in front of a large, glowing clock face. The clock face is surrounded by a bright, golden ring of light. The background is dark with swirling golden and red magical energy, resembling lightning or fire. The title 'Harry Potter AND THE CURSED CHILD' is written in a large, golden, stylized font across the middle.
